

The world is full of individuals whose paths cross ours every single day. We're so busy with our own lives and plans that we don't give them more than a fleeting thought, if even that. Yet, who knows what experiences these folks are coming from... or headed toward? Here's a chance to find out.

This collection of short plays and monologues gives you a glimpse into what sort of events—happy or sad—these people might be dealing with: the young man seated in a coffee shop nervously awaiting his blind date; the girl waving at passing cars from the back seat of her own; the overly friendly man on the bus who likes to celebrate events with his fellow commuters; the little girl whose game with her stuffed animals is a bit more sinister than it first appears.

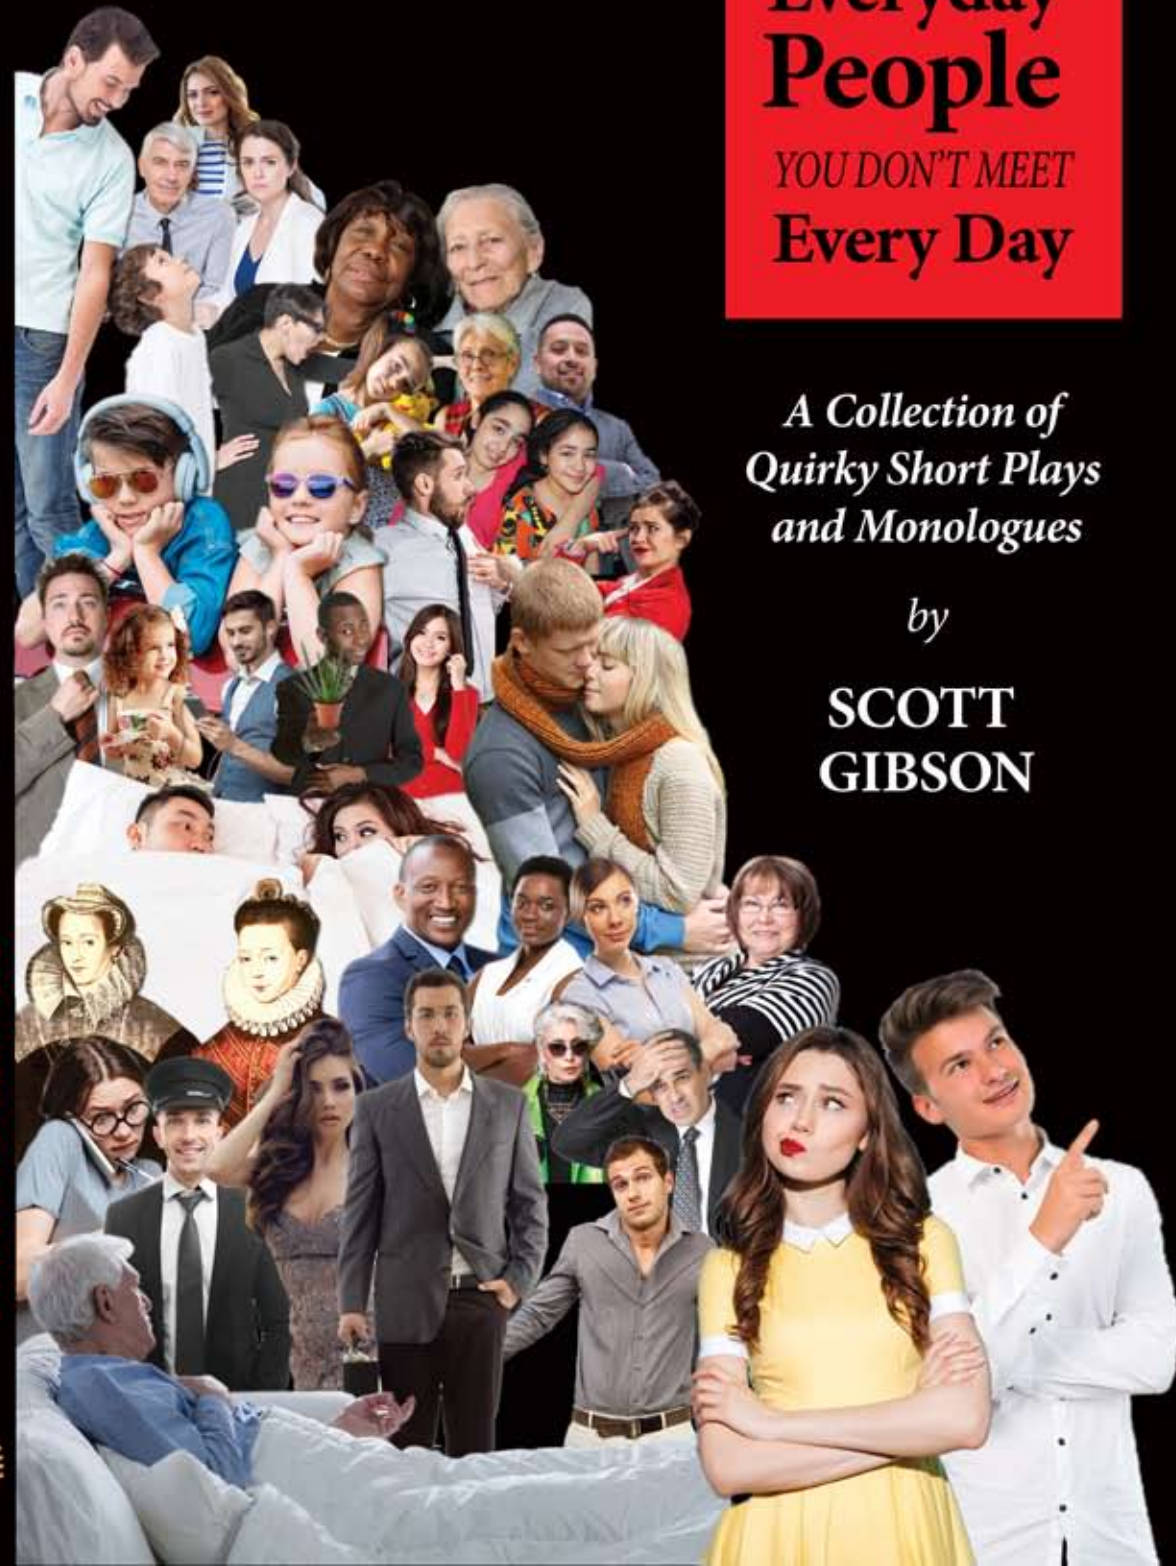

All of these folks, and many more, await you within these pages. Some may resemble people you know; some should probably be avoided at all costs.

Consider yourself warned.

Everyday People You Don't Meet Every Day

SCOTT GIBSON

Everyday People

YOU DON'T MEET
Every Day

A Collection of Quirky Short Plays and Monologues

by

SCOTT
GIBSON